

For Gen Z, you could rephrase it as "Mock Pages Doc", where "Mock" refers to the dummy or not authentic content, and "Pages Doc" represents the document format of a PDF. This way, it caters more towards their slang while still conveying the same idea. Alternatively, you can also use "Fake PDF File", which may be easier for them to understand as well. Remember that slang constantly changes over time so always try to stay updated with what's current among Gen Z users.
